Sue's Scribbles

The weather is cooling down, giving us some nice beading time. And what better time to be appreciative, nay Thankful, for our members than in November? To do that, we selected Amy Loh Kupser to teach us her "Sea Treasures" bracelet, which was selected by our membership back in the Spring. Amy is providing her own Zoom link for this meeting and her plan is to run through the bracelet construction two times: the first time she will record, so would like us to hold our questions; the second time, we are welcome to ask as many questions as occur to us.

Sue Lynes took on the task of rounding up a roster of officers to fill our Board for next year. This club cannot exist without members stepping up to fill these positions and handle the business of organizing and running the club. The following roster will be voted on during our December meeting. Please note that we still have an opening for an additional Advisor. While there is only one person listed for each position, nominations for alternates will be taken during the vote. Any new nominations must have the approval of the person being nominated.

President – Sue Cathcart

Vice President – Pat Volkening

Treasurer – Dee Smith

Secretary – Jamie Dulski

Advisors:

Janice Lynn

Sue Lynes

Open

Please make an attempt to attend the December meeting to participate in the vote so that we have the necessary quorum.

The Great State Fair of Texas is over, but in case you missed it, we captured pictures of all of the winning submissions by our own Cindy Vaughn! One will look suspiciously familiar! Look for the separate article starting on page 3 of this newsletter!

Texas State Fair Winning Entries by Cindy Vaughn

Cindy single handedly took most of the beading ribbons at the State Fair of Texas this year! This should be inspiration to take a look at your projects as you go through the year and consider what you might submit to add another of our beaders among the ribbon mix. For our out-of-state members... have you submitted any of your pieces to local or state competitions where you live?

The Ox Box – this was a project that Cindy designed and shared with us back in February and March.

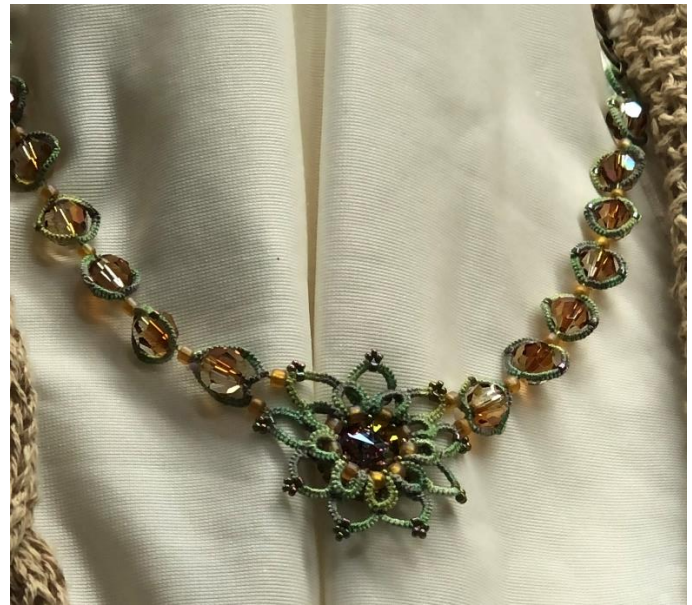

Cindy, like a number of us, is also a member of the Wild West Bead Society, who sponsored this entry. Let's think about letting all of those Fair visitors know about the Dallas Bead Society too!

More bead embroidery...

Hmmm.... I've got a hat that I want to do a beaded band for. Inspiration! This just seems so fitting for Cindy!
